

Low Dose Dexamethasone Suppression Test (LDDS)

This test is used to confirm Cushing's disease.

No fasting is required for this test. Your pet will need to be dropped off in the morning and stay with us until 5-6 pm.

Once your pet is here, a baseline blood sample is collected. Then we administer an injection of Dexamethasone. Two more blood samples will be collected at four hours post injection and 8 hours post injection.